"The lines have fallen for me in pleasant places; indeed I have a beautiful inheritance..." Psalm 16:6 (NAS)

Blessings from Beth...

So have you tired of hearing 'the end is near' yet? Predictions of the world ending – date given (and passed twice) – by men who, for the most part, are fear mongers, not God lovers, tires me!

We are His girls! Our Inheritance is in Him and His is in us...

He loves us so much that He tells us to live according to His word - holy, practicing His Presence, having conversations that please Him, joyful, happy, at peace with all men, practicing self-control, loving one another, patient...any of these sound familiar?

Turn off the news – do not let your mind be filled with information that is only at best 'guess work'. Look into the pages of His daily news – it's been around for a long time and is trustworthy...because the author, our Father, is trustworthy!

I love this quote – consider it my gift to you today!

Our Heavenly Judge will not "delay long" over His elect, but He will delay. In fact, God's definition of "speedily" and ours are not always synonymous. The Lord incorporates delays into His overall plan: Delays work perseverance in us. So crucial is endurance to our character development that God is willing to delay even important answers to prayer to facilitate our transformation. Thus, we should not interpret divine delays as signs of divine reluctance. Delays are tools to perfect our faith. Christ is looking to find a tenacity in our faith that prevails in spite of delays and setbacks. He seeks to create a perseverance within us that outlasts the test of time, a resolve that actually grows stronger during delays. When the Father sees this quality of persistence in our faith, it so touches His heart that He grants "legal protection" to His people!

- Frances Frangipane

Again, I encourage you to move past the news this world has to offer and read God's word for daily living...He very clearly says, 'we win!'

Yay!!

Melodious Moments...

I had the opportunity this last month to speak to a group of parents who have children with special needs. One of the stories I told them was about a time that I was driving home from DFW. It was very late, and there was a dense fog that had settled in. The visibility was so low that I could not see the road in front of me. I was almost to the point of having to just pull over and give up, but then I saw a set of taillights in front of me. Those taillights saved me because it let me know where the road was.

Sometimes in life we have foggy days where the visibility is very low. It doesn't require having a child with special needs. The fog on a particular day might be difficulty in your marriage, a strained family relationship, a prodigal child, or even a dryness in your walk with God. Regardless of the cause of the fog, we need taillights in front of us to encourage us to keep moving and stay on track.

At the same time, we need to be taillights for others. Be on the lookout for someone who you might encourage or be a light for when they are in a foggy place.

Following closely,

Melody
