Blessings from Beth...

The book of Ezra is a book of history 'in the making'. The temple of God was destroyed - many kings who did not follow the laws of God come and go - God moves in the hearts of His people and the foundation to the temple is laid! (short version)

I couldn't help but notice the two reactions at the dedication of the foundation floor. Scripture tells us that some wept loudly and that others danced and shouted with joy. It is recorded that the weeping and laughter were so loud, it was heard from a great distance! So which response was the correct one?

I think - both!

There are time in my life that my heart is so grateful for God's mercy and grace that I weep. Other times, I see His mighty hand at work and I rejoice with excitement and anticipation of what He will do next! In fact, I submit to you that you can do both at the same time....and it's still praise!

'Laughter through tears is one of my favorite emotions!'

May you be blessed emotionally,

Beth

Melodious Moments...

Just before school started back this year, I asked my son if he was at all excited. He laughed and said as much as he hated to admit it he actually was a little excited. Even for someone who doesn't like much about school, there is something exciting about a new year, a fresh start, and learning something new.

One thing I love about school starting back is it means women's Bible studies will be starting again soon. I'm excited to see old faces returning and new faces that are coming for the first time.

Scripture tells us that God is the same yesterday, today and forever...He does not change. And yet, the moment we receive Him, He begins a process of change in our heart and lives. This process is one that continues throughout the rest of our lives. His desire is to bring about change and do a new thing.

Will you do your part? Will you show up and see what it is He wants to teach you through the study of His word this year? Join us on Thursdays and see what new thing He wants to do in your heart and life.

"See, I am doing a new thing! Now it springs up; do you not perceive it? I am making a way in the wilderness and streams in the wasteland." Isaiah 43:19

Looking forward to seeing you there!
