Blessings from Beth...

Maybe snow in Temple for Christmas? How often do we offer up that little prayer during the month of December – especially on those cold, cloudy, dreary days? The child in each of us – if we're honest – would love to see some of the white stuff – even if for a brief time.

So, what would you do if you had the chance to stay inside while 'magic' was falling to the ground outside? Suggestions...

If you're a reader:

Generous Justice by Timothy Keller

Becoming a Woman Whose God is Enough by Cynthia Heald

Fresh Grounded Faith by Jennifer Rothschild (devotional book)

In a Pit with a Lion on a Snowy Day by Mark Batterson (catchy title and seasonally appropriate!)

God is Just Not Fair by J. Rothschild

Live a Praying Life – Praying through Adversity by Jennifer Kennedy Dean

If you're not a reader, then bundle up, go outside and play!

Have a blessed Christmas!

Beth

Mark your calendar! Bible studies will begin January 15.

Melodious Moments...

It all started with His birth.

The One who came to bind up the brokenhearted.

The One who came to heal the sick and cause the blind to see.

The One who came so that we might be forgiven and free.

He was different than any child that came before or after him.

Wonderful Counselor, Prince of Peace, Mighty God, Deliverer

Emmanuel . . . God with us.

And it all started with His birth.

Let us magnify the Lord and exalt His name together!

Merry Christmas, sweet sisters!

Melody
